

Disclaimer

ReSwap is a decentralized and autonomous software protocol designed for token exchange operations and interaction with staking mechanics.

1. No Profit Guarantees

ReSwap is not an investment platform, broker, custodian, bank, or payment intermediary. All user actions are performed at their own risk.

2. DeFi-Related Risks

Users acknowledge that using ReSwap may involve:

- Risk of token volatility.
- Risk of errors in smart contract code.
- Risk of loss of funds due to vulnerabilities, attacks, or actions of third parties.
- Risk of losing access to a wallet or seed phrase.

3. No Control or Support

The team involved in developing ReSwap does not control user funds and cannot cancel, modify, or reverse transactions.

4. No Financial Advice

Information presented on the ReSwap website or interface does not constitute financial advice. Before using the protocol, users should independently assess risks and, if necessary, consult independent advisors.

5. Protocol Usage

By using ReSwap, you confirm that you understand and accept all risks outlined in this document and release ReSwap, its contributors, and partners from any claims and liability.